

Home Efficiency Genie Contractors

Below is a list of independent, licensed and insured contractors who have opted-in to the Home Efficiency Genie Program. In doing so, these contractors demonstrate a commitment to home performance and high quality service. Contractors on this list are required to complete efficiency improvements according to the National Renewable Energy Laboratory Installation Standards while following health and safety testing according to the Building Performance Institute. What does this mean for you? More value, assurance, and peace of mind when you complete your home efficiency improvements.
